President's Welcome

Dear Colleagues:

I would like to invite you to attend our conference. It is designed for Medical Directors and long-term care professionals who provide geriatric care in our community. The agenda is rich in clinical and medical leadership content.

The Thursday afternoon preconference has been renamed to honor Dr. James Pattee. Our speaker is Dr. Warren Hoffman who worked with Dr. Pattee to design the Medical Director Curriculum and Certification Course. It is an honor to have such a close associate of Dr. Pattee agree to further our leadership education. He is an author, presenter, coach, and assessment specialist, and a leading authority in helping organizations deal with learning disabilities, paradigm shifts, and critical tipping points. His most recent book is Learning Disabilities in Organizations. He has served as assessment specialist and coach for Personnel Decisions International, director of leadership development and training for a Dayton Hudson operating company, executive director of the North Central Career Development Center, adjunct faculty, University of Minnesota School of Medicine, and currently on the core faculty of the Physician Leadership College, University of St. Thomas; he began his professional life as a Presbyterian Pastor in Minnesota and Illinois.

Our keynote Friday will be a national speaker, Ms. Molly Cox. Her perspective and experience on what it takes to inspire people to outstanding results in a range of businesses from healthcare to technology, real estate, hospitality and retail has distinguished her as a highly sought after speaker. Her expertise in writing and performing comedy with a message has been used in short film production and live stage performances.

Ms. Cox blends her business, education and improvisation background to connect body, mind and spirit to show people how to become more effective professionally and personally and to help people to live a more joyful life. Her personal experience with caregiver stress as the caregiver to her mother, who had cancer, and the primary caregiver to her father, who suffered from Alzheimer's disease, makes her message particularly meaningful for geriatric practitioners.

Christine Duncan MD
President,
Minnesota Medical Directors Association
